

each action makes a mark.
changes things.
makes a difference.
enough marks, and a picture begins to form.
as our actions become more deliberate, more consistent, we refine this image.
our image.
i aim to leave a mark.
my mark.
to change things.
to create, to embody this image fully.
consciously.
deliberately.
to become exactly the person i wish to be.
and to do so, unapologetically.

much work has been done lately. restructuring, refining, re-learning. corrective efforts and questions. there are changes ahead...

hard rows on hot days. these marks bleed through.